Overseeing the actions of an anti-strategy game focused on survival, you build up a defense unit and go on adventures to survive with your team. You can upgrade the units you are playing by adding levels and special abilities and take control of the situation yourself. Once the final battle begins, victory or defeat is decided by which team has the most fun. If you end up winning, you will be rewarded with items that will upgrade your city. If you lose, your resource wealth and equipment are burned to ashes. Are you ready for the call of duty? Are you ready for a camping trip? If you are, then you are in the right place. DLC Leveling Guide This is a mostly short write up on the Ultimate Armor Pack DLC leveling guide for the Fairy Fencer F game. This is not an exclusive guide since we have other guides posted on our Fairy Fencer F blog but I thought I would do a one post to summarise it all here. Please note that this is not a full guide on the character, supporting character and weapons there are other guides on the Fairy Fencer F character and weapon sections but for those who just want the leveling information in one place, then this post is for you! The short summary of it is the following: Add the missing equippable armour based on your character (can be done via the MT wiki), then sell the items with equippable armour Where to level the equippable armour and stuff you will want to look up on our Fairy Fencer F RSI forums You will probably want to sell the armor you have missed out on the first time round plus any unwanted rings and stuff you don't want to grind up! You can collect the items that you missed out on through grinding or you can sell in the game shop on the right hand side of the game screen. Even if your character has all the gear other than equippable armour you can still level the equippable gear with the quest if you never really wanted it You should be able to make use of the valuable equippable armour and make use of the valuable equipment you get for grinding up the items you missed out on the first time round. Before you begin the following equipping and stripping guides. Without the Armor you are missing out on character armour slots and the required equippable armour of that character. Just like the FFXII armour grid, Fairy Fencer F has charts to determine which slot would be required and this chart can be seen by clicking on the y-axis. The exact information comes in the table below. If you have the requirement at which is demonstrated at the bottom of the table then you need to follow the appropriate section of the guide for the skill and then slot to that slot number and equip the correct armour at the correct level of that required armour. If we look at my main character, Divine Knight Rubias, on the chart above we can see a slot requirement of 6 where we do require a ring of 4+ on this character. You can see the required ring and the armour attached to that
